CHAP. 330.

AN ACT to relieve the holders of railroad farm mortgages, made in aid of railroad companies.

The People of the State of Wisconsin, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Sec. 1 There is hereby created a fund for the relief of the holders of notes or bonds secured by mortgage upon real estate, in this state, which notes or bonds were originally given to any railroad company in this state, or to any person or persons in trust for the use of any such railroad company, in exchange or in security for capital stock of said company, whether such capital stock shall really have been issued therefor or not; which fund shall be called the "railroad bond and mortgage sinking fund," and shall be under the control of three commissioners, to be appointed within ten days after the passage of this act, by the governor, and shall constitute and be known as the "board of railroad sinking fund commissioners," one of whom shall be designated by the governor as president of said board, and who shall hold their offices during the pleasure of the governor, and who shall, before entering upon the duties of their offices, each make, subscribe and file with the secretary of state, the oath of office prescribed by the constitution of this state, and execute a bond with at least two sureties, to be approved by the governor, in a penalty of five thousand dollars, conditioned for the faithful discharge of his duties as such commissioner, and file the same with the secretary of state. A majority of the commissioners shall constitute a quorum to transact business: provided, however, that the state treasurer shall have the actual custody and disbursement of said fund, and he and his sureties shall be responsible upon his official bond, for the safe keeping and proper disbursement of the same.

Sec. 2. Each railroad corporation created by or organized under any legislative enactment of this state, which has heretofore taken payment for any portion or all of its capital stock, or any person [who] for the use or in trust for any such railroad company, shall have taken payment for any portion or all of its capital stock in notes or bonds secured by mortgage upon real estate in this state, and which shall have been by such corporation sold, hypothecated or otherwise disposed of, for the purpose of realizing funds with which to pay the debts of such corporation, incurred in and about the construction or equipment of the road which such corporation was authorized to construct; and each railroad corporation which has or which shall hereafter become the owner of the railroad so as aforesaid authorized to be constructed, and which is now exercising, or which shall hereafter exercise, the powers, privileges and franchises, of a railroad corporation, by operating such railroad assenting to this act, within the limits of this state, shall annually pay to the state treasurer, for the use of said fund twelve per cent. of the amount of such notes or bonds and mortgages, when such amount shall be reduced and classified as hereinafter provided; and shall continue to make such annual payments on the first day of June, in each year after the present year, until such amount, with interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, is fully paid, and shall, moreover, comply with, conform and abide by all the other provisions of this act. The aforesaid payments into the state treasury shall be in trust for the present holders of the aforementioned notes or bonds and mortgages, their heirs, executors, administrators and assigns, respectively and pro rata, as hereinafter provided; and it is hereby made the duty of said commissioners to ascertain the amount, number and kind of such notes or bonds and mortgages so taken and sold, or hypothecated or otherwise disposed of, as aforesaid, by any such railroad company; and for that purpose the said commissioners shall have the right to examine the records in the office of any register of deeds in this state, the books, papers and records of any and all railroad companies in this state, and to cause to come before them persons to be examined under oath, to administer oaths to witnesses, and to take the testimony of any and all persons.

Sec. 3 Said commissioners shall, when the full amount of such notes or bonds and mortgages, so taken and sold as mentioned in the preceding section of this act, is fully ascertained, classify and reduce the same in the same manner and to correspond with the classification and reduction of the principal due upon instruments that become liens upon such sinking fund, as prescribed in this act, and shall immediately serve upon the president of such corporation, or upon the person or persons who have the management and control of such corporation so authorized to construct such railroad, or of the corporation which has or shall hereafter become the owner of the railroad so authorized to be constructed, a duplicate certificate of the amount of such notes or bonds and mortgages so taken and sold as aforesaid, by such railroad company, as thus ascertained, classified and reduced, and shall file the other of said duplicate certificates with the state treasurer.

Sec. 4. The holders of the following described instruments may establish liens upon that part of such fund as herein set forth, for the amounts and in the manner prescribed in section six of this act: All notes or bonds secured by mortgage upon real estate in this state, originally given to any railroad company in this state, prior to the first day of January, 1860, in payment or in security for capital stock of such company, whether such capital stock shall really have been issued or not, and transferred by or for such railroad company, either absolutely or as collateral security, for the indebsedness of such company.

Sec. 5. The amount paid by any railroad corporation into such sinking fund, in pursuance of this act, shall be applied to the payment and cancellation of such of the instruments mentioned in section four of this act, as were taken by such railroad corporation, or by the railroad corporation who constructed and equipped the railroad, of which such railroad corporation so paying into such fund is in possession, and of a fair proportion for such railroad company in the expenses of the commission: provided, however, that whenever all of such instruments given to any one railroad company in this state, shall have been paid in the manner provided in this act, by such railroad company or its legal successors, then the obligation of such railroad company or its legal successors to pay into said sinking fund the amount herein required, shall forever cease, and the surplus, if any, then remaining in the hands of the state treasurer, of the moneys paid to said fund by such railroad company, shall be returned to the financial office of the same, or to the person entitled thereto.

Sec. 6. Liens to be established by this act upon such railroad bond and mortgage sinking fund, shall not be for a greater amount than the bona fide holders thereof shall have actually paid therefor, to be ascertained by said commissioners by such evidence as to them shall seem proper: provided however, that such lien shall not be for a greater amount than designated in the following classification.

CLASS FIRST.

Upon all instruments described in section four of this act, as instruments entitling the holder thereof to liens upon said fund, given to, in trust for the use, or in aid of, the Milwaukee and Mississippi railroad company, and the Kenosha and Rockford railroad company, bearing interest at the rate of ten per cent per annum, the lien upon such fund shall be for ninety per cent of the principal of said instrument, with interest at the rate of six per cent per annum upon such ninety per cent. of said principal, from the time the same shall become a lien upon such fund, as provided in this act, except as hereinafter provided.

CLASS SECOND.

Upon all instruments so as aforesaid described in section four of this act, given in trust for the use or in aid of the Milwaukee and Mississippi railroad company, bearing interest at the rate of eight per cent. per annum, and all such instruments given to, in trust for the use, or in aid of the La Crosse and Milwaukee railroad company, prior to the issue of one million dollars of the capital stock of said company, in trust to Garret Vliet; and upon all such instruments given to, in trust for the use, or in aid of the Milwaukee and Horicon railroad company, and the Ripon and Wolf river railroad company, secured by mortgage upon real estate in Green Lake county and south of that county, and in Fond du Lac and Winnebago counties, the lien upon such fund shall be for seventy per cent. of the principal of said instruments, with interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum on such seventy per cent. of said principal, from the time the same shall become a lien upon such lien, as provided in this act, except as hereinafter provided.

CLASS THIRD.

Upon all such instruments so as aforesaid described in section four of this act secured by mortgage upon real estate, and not included in either of the above classes, the lien upon such fund shall be for fifty per cent. of the principal of said instruments, with six per cent. per annum upon such fifty per cent. of said principal, from the time the same shall become a lien upon such fund, as provided in this act, except as hereinafter provided.

Sec. 7. Every holder and owner of a note or bond and mortgage, of the kind and description mentioned in section four of this act, and of a railroad bond to which, if any, as collateral security, such note or bond and mortgage had been transferred, shall, upon complying with the provisions of this act, become entitled to receive out of the money paid into said railroad bond and mortgage sinking fund, by the railroad company or its proper representatives, or by the person or persons controlling or managing its property, to which, or to agents or trustees of which railroad company such note or bond and mortgage were originally made, executed and delivered, annually a pro rata share, to be fixed by the board of commissioners, until the amount of said note or bond and mortgage, fixed as prescribed in section six of this act, with the interest thereon, prescribed by this act, be fully paid: provided, that the first payments so made shall be applied to the arrearages of interest, but no compound interest shall be allowed.

Sec. 8. The board of commissioners shall immediately after their organization, and after any one railroad company shall have accepted this act, cause this act to be published once a week for three successive weeks, in one newspaper published in the city of Madison, in one newspaper published in the city of Milwaukee, and in one newspaper published in the city of New York, and in such other papers as the governor may, in his discretion, direct; and no holder and owner of a note or bond and mortgage, of the kind and character mentioned in section four of this act, who shall fail or neglect to comply with the requirements and provisions of this act, within six months after the acceptance of this act by the railroad company, or any person or persons for the same, to which or in aid of which any note or bond was originally given, or by its legal successor, shall be entitled to the benefits thereof; and any such acceptance by any railroad company shall be published in the same manner and in the same newspapers as this act.

Sec. 9 Every holder and owner of a note or bond and mortgage, as aforementioned, may at any time after the day of the first publication of this act, and at any time within six months after the publication of the acceptance of this act by any such railroad company for whose benefit such note or bond and mortgage was given, deliver and surrender to the said board of commissioners, at their office in the city of Madison, such note or bond and mortgage, together with the railroad bond, if any, as collateral security, to which the same were transferred to him. Such holder or holders shall also deliver to said board, a satisfaction piece of the mortgage executed and acknowledged in due form of law, in such manner as to effectually cancel and discharge such mortgage of record, and shall make such proof as such board shall require, of the time when and the person from whom he purchased such note or bond and mortgage, the amount paid for the same, together with the class of said instrument, and if he did not purchase the same, then he shall prove to the satisfaction of said board how he obtained possession thereof; and if it shall appear from such statement and proof, that such note or bond and mortgage was obtained by the holder thereof in exchange for any other thing than money, the board of commissioners shall require the holder to make further proof, in such manner as the board may direct, of the actual cash value in money, of the thing so exchanged, at the time such exchange was made.

Sec. 10 The holder, upon complying with the provisions of the last preceding section, shall be entitled to receive, and the board of commissioners are hereby required to issue and deliver to such holder, as evidence of his interest in said railroad bond and mortgage sinking fund, a certificate, engraved in a good style of engraving, to guard against counterfeiting, signed by the president of the board and by the state treasurer, in substance as follows:

No. Series. First Issue.

STATE OF WISCONSIN.

The board of commissioners of the railroad bond and mortgage sinking fund, do hereby certify, that —— or bearer, is entitled to receive out of any money paid into the said fund by the —— railroad company, or any person or persons for the same, the sum of —— dollars for principal, with interest at the rate of —— per centum per annum, from the date hereof. Payments to be made at the state treasury, in the city of Madison, during the month of November, in each and every year, until the sum specified in this certificate is fully paid, in accordance with an act entitled "an act to relieve the holders of railroad farm mortgages, made in aid of railroad companies," approved —— 1862.

Done at the city of Madison, this —— day of —— 1862

President of the board of commissioners of the railroad bond and mortgage sinking fund.

—————— State treasurer.

Sec. 11. All certificates issued by said board of commissioners, within three monts after the publication of the acceptance of this act by any railroad company, upon bonds and mortgages originally given to such company, or given to the company of which such company, so accepting, is the successor in possession, shall be denominated "first series," and shall bear interest at the rate of six per centum pra annum; all certificates issued after three and within four months after the publication of such acceptance, shall be denominated "second series" and shall bear interest at the rate of five per centum per annum, all certificates issued after four and within five months after such publication, shall be denominated "third series," and shall bear interest at the rate of four per centum per annum, and all certificates issued after five and within six months after such publication, shall be denominated "fourth series," and shall bear interest at the rate of three per centum per annum: provide, that all certificates issued shall be dated on the day the person entitled thereto shall have completed his proofs as required by this act, and each certificate shall be deemed issued on the day of its date, and any holder of a note or bond and mortgage, surrendering the same with the railroad bond, if any there be, as provided in this act, after five and within six months after the publication of such acceptance who may not complete his proof within the six months, shall be entitled to a certificate of the fourth series, as heretofore provided.

Sec. 12. On the first Monday of Oct., in each and every year, during the continuance of said sinking fund, the state treasurer shall transmit, in writing, to the said board of commissioners, a statement of the moneys belonging to said fund, received by him during the year then next preceding, specifying the several amounts paid in by the several railroad companies or their proper representatives: also, of the sums paid by him, if any, and on account of what railroad company, or if the money paid by him be an expense account, for what and on whose order it was so paid: also, of the amount then in the treasury to the credit of said fund, specifying the proportion of the several railroad companies contributing to said fund. And on the same day in each year as last aforesaid, the secretary of state shall transmit to the said board of commissioners, certified copies of all receipts received and filed in his office, as required by this act, during the then last preceding months, and also a correct and certified list of all accounts audited and allowed by him for expenses of the commission.

Sec. 13. The said board of commissioners upon receiving the reports of the state treasurer and of the secretary of state, as provided for in the preceding section, shall at once proceed to apportion the amount to be paid on each outstanding certificate as the next annual installment; so that, on each certificate there shall be paid its pro rata per centage of the amount in the treasury contributed by the railroad company named in the certificate, and that the entire amount contributed by the several railroad companies, or any person for the same, shall thus be apportioned annually among the holders of outstanding cetificates, deducting only the necessary expenses of the commission, which shall be paid out of the moneys contributed by said companies, in proportion to the amounts paid in by them respectively.

Sec. 14. The said board of commissioners shall, on or before the third Monday of the month in which such apportionment is made file a clear and distinct written report of the same, with the state treasurer, who shall, in proper books to be provided for that purpose at the expense of said fund, keep separate accounts with each railroad company contributing to said fund.

Sec. 15. During the month of Nov., in each year during the continuance of said fund, payments shall be made upon any outstanding certificates issued as hereinbefore provided, in the following manner: The payee or bearer of any such certificate, upon surrendering the same to the said board of commissioners, at their office, shall then and there deliver to such payee or bearer their order on the state treasurer for the sum then to be paid on such certificate by the last apportionment then made, specifying in such order the number of the certificate surrendered, the number of the series and issue, and the railroad company named in such certificate, and how much of the amount of the order so drawn is for interest, and how much on principal: and for the sum left unpaid, after deducting the amount paid by such order on the treasurer the said board shall issue to such payee or bearer, a new certificate, of like form and of the same series with the one surrendered numbering it with the same number, and dating it as on the day on which the last apportionment was made; but instead of the word "first" in the words "first issue," there shall be written or stamped the word 'second,' 'third,' or any other numeral, as the fact may require. The said board shall preserve the certificate surrendered to them and mark the same 'cancelled.'

Sec. 16. The state treasurer, upon presentation of the order drawn upon him by the said board of commissioners, shall pay and hold the same as his voucher: provided however, that money once apportioned, but not called for, shall not thereafter be considered a part of said fund in a subsequent apportionment, nor shall any expenses be paid out of the same, nor interest allowed thereon.

Sec. 17. If the person who executed any note or bond and mortgage to any railroad company for the use or in aid of any railroad company in this state, which note or bond and mortgage has been surrendered to said board of commissioners, and a certificate issued thereon, as provided in this act and such person or his legal representatives or assigns, shall, within three years after the publication of this act, transfer and deliver to said board of commissioners any capital stock of any railroad company received by him for such note or bond and mortgage, or the price in money which he received for such capital stock, or proof that no capital stock was ever received for such note or bond and mortgage, or that the certificate thereof has been lost, such person or his legal representatives or assigns shall be canceled by said board, and the satisfaction piece of the mortgage, provided for in section nine in this act: provided, that the person so receiving the same shall pay to the state treasurer the sum of two dollars for the use of the expense account of said fund, which payment shall be a condition precedent to receiving said note or bond canceled, and the satisfaction piece of the mortgage: and no action shall ever be instituted upon any note or bond and mortgage so assigned to such commissioners: provided, the holder of such stock shall so deliver the same up, if he has any, or so prove the loss of the same.

Sec. 18. All bonds issued by railroad companies in this state, and as collateral security to which any note or bond and mortgage had been transferred by such railroad company, and the holder and owner of such railroad bond shall have surrendered the same, together with the said collaterals thereto, to said board of commissioners, as required by this act, and shall have received a certificate therefor, shall be retured by the said board of commissioners to the railroad company having issued the same; and all capital stock and the certificates therefor, or the proof that no capital stock was issued, or of the loss of such certificate, or the value in money of the stock surrendered and delivered to said board, as required by the last preceding section, shall also be returned to the railroad company havin issued the same: provided, always, that such railroad company has filed its assent to this act as hereinfore provided.

Sec. 19. The provisions of this act shall be assented to and accepted by the railroad corporations required by this act to contribute to said sinking fund, in writing, filed with the secretary of state, before any such corporation shall be required to pay into the state treasury the amounts as hereinbefore provided; and when any such railroad corporation shall have so filed its assent to and acceptance of the provisions of this act, this act shall become a part and parcel of the charter or act of incorporation of such railroad company, an the same penalties and forfeitures shall attach to such railroad corporation, for a violation, on their part, of any of the provisions of this act, as for a violation of any portion of the charter or act of incorporation of such railroad company.

Sec. 20. In case any of the railroad corporations mentioned in section two of this act, or their railroad property and other

Mr. William Simpson, the water color painter, has returned to England after a three years' tour in India. He has not only penetrated to the very source of the Ganges in the Himalayas, crossing the highest of the snowy passages, 19,000 feet above the sea, but even into Ladak, a region where it is the custom for women to have a plurality of husbands, and where praying is done by machinery!

The question of armor plated ships and floating batteries continues the prominent topic in London.

The siege of Sebastopol lasted eleven months. The allies employed 2,587 cannon, which were served with 2,381,981 shot and shell and 11,484,804 pounds of powder. The fleets mounted 2,156 guns. The infantry of the French alone were provided with 61,606,869 musket cartridges. The engineer department constructed 69¼ miles of intrenchments and 1,251 metres of mining galleries. The last bombardment lasted five hours and a half, and 968,680 shot and shell were used. The French sent 309.268 men and 41,974 horses and mules, and they lost 69,229 men by sickness and casualties.

A curious return has just been published, showing that more people were killed during the last twelve months, in Paris, by being run over by carriages, than by railway accidents all over France in the same time.

A correspondent of the London Field recommends tallow candles, (common) done up in paper, and put in the sack or drawer with clothe, to prevent moths destroying the cloth.

Obsequies to Governor Harvey.

ODE

DEDICATED TO THE MEMORY OF GOV. L. P. HARVEY, OF WISCONSIN. BY MARY A. A. PHINNEY.

AIR—"Brave Men, Behold your Fallen Chief."

Sob! Sob!
Sob, wild west wind, a people's pain!
Weep! Weep!
Weep, April skies, your saddest rain!
A nobler brow has never lain
Beneath the waters falsely fair;—
We call in vain—
Cruel surges mock our prayer

Droop, Freedom's flag, along the sky,
While slowly strike his funeral knells—
Yet he has heard with kindling eye,
The chime of Heaven's welcome-bells!

With ministry of word and deed,
To those who fell in glorious strife,—
Their grateful prayers a priceless meed,—
He crowned the mission of his life.

The wounded soldier, moaning low
Of love and home, the weary while,
Looked up with pulses all-aglow,
To catch the sunlight of his smile.

So soft the tones that soothed his ears,
So warm the hand enclasping his,
That, almost, through his blinding tears,
The sufferer felt his mother's kiss.

We cannot call him dead, the good,
And loyal soul we mourn to-day;
He passed the baptism of the flood,
Then rose to walk the shining way.

Farewell, brave chieftain, thine the sweep
Of endless joy, a shoreless wave;
But ours, to bless thy name and weep
The hopes low-buried in thy grave.

Funeral Oration

DELIVERED IN THE COLLEGE CHAPEL OF LAWRENCE UNIVERSITY, BY PRESIDENT R. Z. MASON, MAY 1ST, 1862, ON THE OCCASION OF THE DEATH OF GOV. L. P. HARVEY. Published by request of the audience.

Fellow Citizens: The people of Wisconsin to day assemble by proclamation of the Governor to pay their last tribute of respect to the memory of their lamented, late Chief Magistrate. From Lake Michigan to the Mississippi, from the southern line to the humblest hut on the northern terminus of the state, the sad message has gone forth that the chosen Chief of three-quarters of a million of people is no more; that the Governor of our Commonwealth sacrificed his valuable life in the treacherous darkness of night while engaged in the self-chosen task of sharing the hardships and hazards of life among the patriot-wounded and loyal dying of a great battle field. It was eleven p. m. Saturday week, when all eyes were closed in slumber but those of the watchful sentinel as he paced his silent rounds, and when the horrid features of grim visaged war were hidden for a time in the impenetrable gloom that Governor Harvey met his untimely end. At Savannah, Tenn., accompanied by his suite he was on the point of exchanging positions from one part of the boat to another, when by a single mis-step, he fell into the rapid, swollen stream and was instantly lost to view in its turbid waters. Many were ready to lend a helping hand, some jumping overboard for that purpose, but none could effectually succor him. With an instinct common to our human nature, the stifled cry for help was prompted as the surging stream bore him onward and madly swept him under, yet no finite arm could save him. Death claimed his victim. On Monday, the 21st, the electric flash carried the mournful message to his distant home in Wisconsin. It fell upon us like a thunderbolt from a clear sky. It broke in upon the quiet of domestic love like a deluge of woes. Without an instant of warning or preparation it fell with its leaden weight of grief on the heart of wife, and friend and citizen. The bell sends out not the merry peal of victory, but the subdued and solemn and softened vibrations of sorrow and affliction, carrying with it a sense of sadness and loss, of private and public grief. The flags of the Capitol are at half mast; the public offices are closed, and signs of mourning are seen on every hand. But how faint and feeble is all the display and pageantry of even a great State, the tolling of bells, the roar of artillery, the draped banners, the odes and dirges composed and sung in a thousand temples of science and religion—how vain and empty are all these as a true expression of the feelings which are shared in common by the entire people of Wisconsin!

But if we find it difficult to choose proper modes of conveying our sense of the public loss how hopelessly must her condition be over whose heart and hearthstone death has thrown his dark shadow? We try to give expression to our grief, but the stricken wife nurses hers in silence and solitude. We give wings to our emotions by utterance; hers are unspeakable. We shall again pursue the beaten track of life, when the first severe shock shall have once passed. But she, who drinks to the dregs the gall and wormwood thus commended to her lips by this event, will not rise with the same elasticity that we do beneath the burden of sorrow. Her life was identified with his. His plans, his aspirations, his present and his future were hers. She of all persons is entitled to our warmest sympathies and our most fervent prayers.

The biography of Governor Harvey is a fine illustration of the beautiful working of our popular system of Government in bringing men of ability and integrity by degrees forward to more prominent positions in public life; to offices of trust and usefulness.

Governor Harvey was born in an obscure, sparsely settled town in the State of Connecticut, and at a somewhat early age removed with his father's family to Ohio. He obtained a liberal education at Hudson, in that State, and at the age of twenty-two came to Wisconsin. He made his advent among the early settlers of the State in 1842, in the capacity of a teacher of a high school or academy in Kenosha, then Southport. At a subsequent period he established the Southport American which he edited with great ability until his removal to Rock county, where he has since resided.

He was elected to the Senate in 1853 and re-elected in 1855, and has been pronounced by competent judges one of the most eloquent and accomplished debaters ever known in the State Capitol. In 1859 he was elected Secretary of State. This responsible position he filled to the entire satisfaction of the public. So complete was his mastery of all the details of legislation, so intimate his acquaintance with the history of the public business of the State, so thoroughly versed in all measures of public policy, especially those of finance and war, that a general desire took possession of the public mind, last Autumn, that he should become our next Governor. Accordingly he was put in nomination by the Union and Republican Conventions and elected Governor by a large majority. Since then he has borne himself with great credit as an active, diligent, enlightened and conscientious Chief Magistrate.

There are a few great requisites necessary to a brilliant and successful career combined in the character and life of Gov. Harvey. To these we would for a moment invite more especial attention. They are ability, an unsullied character, active enterprise, benevolence and opportunity.

Man's ability, like his Creator's, is measured by his works. One is able to command an army; to control, direct and discipline large bodies of men; to win battles or capture cities. Another is able to invent a telescope, a microscope, or to construct a railroad or an engine; to collect, arrange, analize, and classify the facts of a new science. Another is able to build a path for the lightning on the floor of the sea; to construct the iron-clad leviathan that floats upon its surface, or erect those marble palaces of the rich and great that adorn the cities of our land. Another is able to inaugurate new systems of finance or philosophy, or new epochs of social, political and religious reform. In all these several departments of human labor, the true worker is tested and judged by his work. St. Paul's Cathedral is a monument of Christopher Wren; and the tubular bridge spanning the St. Lawrence at Montreal, is a work bearing perpetual witness to the masterly genius of its great engineer George Stevenson. The edifice expresses the architect's skill. The fabric, of whatever kind, is the outgrowth of an inner, ideal condition and designates the order of mind and perfection of culture with which the production originates.

Judging the character of our late, lamented Governor by his life-long labors, he stands forth before the public a man of confessed ability. To every position of honor or responsibility to which he was called by the suffrages of the people or the voice of Providence, he was fully competent. He entered the arena of politics not in the capacity of a demagogue, not as a servile tactician or generalissimo of a party, nor merely as a candidate for promotion, but as a patriot and statesman; as a man of enlarged views; of clear insight into those intricate questions that baffle the skill and exhaust the resources of so many others. To attain the successive positions of public trust to which he was called through a series of years, without resorting to the dishonorable tricks sometimes practiced, was no mean evidence of ability. Unsolicited favors of this nature come seldom to the undeserving. His mental powers, naturally of a healthy, robust order, had wrestled in early life with the knotty problems of the exact sciences, and later with those gigantic principles which underlie the whole fabric of human society in a study of the law. They had been sharpened by the analytic processes of the metaphysician and shaped and polished by a careful investigation of the facts of history, and a close observation of human nature.

But another element of personal character which contributed largely to his successful career was that of unsullied integrity. The robes of office have never fallen upon a high officer of state in Wisconsin for whose personal integrity a wider or a profounder respect was felt than that experienced by the public for Governor Harvey. Honesty is a basic, primary virtue. A mind of genuine, hearty, uncalculating devotion to the great principles of moral integrity has within itself the germ of all the nobler qualities of our [illegible]. Such men are real specimens of [illegible]ness. Such men may [illegible] it is morally impossible for [illegible] little and habitually mean. Like the planets, they may have eccentricities in their orbits, but they will never revolve in the contracted circle of narrow [illegible] and vicious sympathies.

To say that a man is naturally and by first impulse honest, is to say that he is greatly good. Such a man may have been trained in a school where an honest life was at a discount; he may have grown up with little knowledge of a high, moral standard; he may have become familiar with conventional and artificial codes of right and in the practical application of correct moral principles, he may at times greatly err. Still, with a nature originally sincere, honest and earnest in its convictions, the great substratum of a pure, noble and unsullied character exists. We do not prize the moral character of Governor Harvey so much because he has through his entire official career resisted the frequent temptation to peculation, or because he had the good sense and good taste as a gentleman of high self respect to refrain from soiling his official robes by gathering the glittering dust from the filthy purlieus of politics and to deal justly as a public officer with the public funds and the public interests. This is all very well and we are willing to give a man due credit for official integrity even where the motive rises no higher than self-interest. But as common prudence might dictate such a course as the shortest route to the goal of his ambition we could not feel justified in canonizing such persons as patterns of integrity or in enrolling them in the galaxy of great and honorable names. Such men are not to be accused, but watched. But we prize the moral character of the late Executive of our commonwealth not because he was officially honest but because he was personally honest—because we think we have the best of proof that there was inwoven into the very texture of his moral and intellectual fabric the very spirit and essence of an honest nature. It was inwrought and ingrained into the tissues of his whole being. We think him the man who without affectation of superior excellence, without cant, without any artful array of motives, positions, plans, purposes, could afford to fall back, amid the conflicts of self-interests on that simple reserve of infinite strength, a simple, true, ingenuous nature. An honest man is unassailable. All the forces and agencies of the Universe are constructed as an eternal fortification for his defence. He has faith in God, however little he may have in opinions, that oceans of doubt and disaster cannot drown. In the simple language of the poet he exclaims—

"O all-pervading Providence Divine
In thy large book what secrets are enrolled
What sundry helps doth thy great power assign
To prop the cause which thou intend'st to hold."

Gov. Harvey was a man whose very countenance was his best recommendation. Any reader of human nature would pronounce his physiognomy a model, of openness, candor, frankness, benevolence and christian honor.

But he was also a man of active enterprise as his last mission abundantly attests. I will not say he was without ambition. I do not desire to say it. Enterprize is but another name for regulated ambition. I honor him for such qualities. What would any of us amount to without it. But that ambition was moderated, softened, subdued. It was the ambition of a man conscious of power. It was the ambition of a giant carrying himself through a forest of difficulties to the attainment of a noble object. It was the ambition of a man toiling to do his duty. Ambition is a blemish only as it is selfish. But the desire to achieve good and noble results as shown by a Newton, a La-Place, a Clinton, a Washington, is one of the best and purest desires that stimulate our otherwise sluggish nature. Some may pronounce such ambition even unholy. We never can. It is a God given faculty, and we shall be held as strictly accountable for its legitimate use as we shall for the use of our reason or common sense.

But clearly allied to a genuine christian honesty that marked the prominent features of his whole life, was that of an active, warm, impulsive, christian benevolence. These two characteristics usually coexist wherever found. They are the pillars which support the arch of every well balanced character. They are supplements of the same arc in the circle of human virtues. They are like the violet and yellow in the prismatic beam complementary to each other, so that what one lacks of making a perfect character the other supplies. They are twin graces, co ordinate branches from the same root. Governor Harvey was cordial, genial, honest, because unselfish. He was generous and sympathetic for the same reason. He was firm as adamant in defence of what he conceived was right, yet gentle and tender as a woman in sympathy for the unfortunate. His last mission to Pittsburgh Landing is sufficient manifestation of an order and affluence of sympathy for suffering men that will entitle him to the eternal gratitude of every loyal citizen of Wisconsin. "Thank God" writes he in his last letter to his wife "for the impulse which brought me here I am doing a good work and shall stay as long as I am so profitably employed." What is wealth, ease, honor or position compared with that richer inheritance bequeathed our spiritual natures as a part of the reward of a humane action? What are even life and safety as things to be chosen when set over against the impulses of plain duty? Would the immediate friends of Governor Harvey, would the citizens of Wisconsin much as they loved their late chief Magistrate and lament his sudden fall, would they prefer that so humane a service should remain unperformed rather than that it should be performed at such an immense sacrifice? That errand was his mission. Though the path to a watery grave it was divinely appointed. It was pre-arranged and as fully in accordance with the economy of Infinite Wisdom as the scene of Calvary. Governor Harvey's name and memory would have been revered even if he had not laid down his life in connection with so noble a service. But now there lingers about his personal history and character the grateful perfume of voluntary martyrdom in the service of humanity. Had he known the results of his mission is it probable he would have remained in inglorious ease in his office? I venture the assertion it would not have delayed him an hour.

Such are the conceptions we get of his mission and of the generous self sacrificing, heroic disposition of the man. But says one is it not a profound mystery that so good and useful a man should be cut off in this summary way? It may seem mysterious to us but let us remember that chance did not direct his steps. An invisible hand led him to the tent of the disabled and wounded soldier and led him away again to the river. An eye that never sleeps and to whom darkness is as the light saw him take his last step and sink beyond the reach of help into the turbulent stream. He was not drowned alone or by chance or in obedience merely to certain natural laws and forces. Neither chance nor secondary causes govern this world. These laws are means to an end or modes in which the Divine Being manifests himself. They have their master. The whole doctrine of special Divine interference is unfortunately stated and unphilosophically conceived. There is no interference either occasional or general. It is eternal order and harmony in which God may be said to be the great, living, active force and intelligence. He does not interfere with his laws he executes them. The great, ever present, impressive miracle of the Universe is that every thing proceeds under the inspection of the Omniscient eye, without any miracle at all. God's Providence does not forget us. He has not abdicated his throne and retired to the solitary recesses of the Universe to come forth only on great emergencies of special supervision. God is ever on hand. With the sleepless eye of a vigilant sentinel he goes the rounds of duty in the order of eternal Providence never absent from the transaction of a single event whether great or minute, never failing to number the hairs of our head any more than to count the years of a geologic cycle in the history of the planet.

God governs the world of matter and of mind both by general and special laws; for if by general he must by special as the general law could not exist without the special fact, the genus without the species. In fact when stripped of its verbiage, special facts and individual things are all that have real, substantive existence in the Universe. General laws and generic orders of being are nothing more than our mode of conceiving of the relations of individual facts and things to each other—our mode of expressing special facts in the mass. There do not exist as entities at all, but only as our conceptions of entities. The man who advocates a general without a special Providence is about as wise as he who claims that the Mississippi river exists and drains the waters of half the continent, but that it is not made up of particular tributaries, of innumerable confluents which carry off the rains of the great watersheds of the Allegany and Rocky mountains. [illegible] Providence is mediate through second causes and through matter and therefore general, says also, whether he intends it or not, that it is immediate, imminent through mind and matter and that it extends to every special, individual case.

God may not spare the soldier on the battle field by turning the rifled projectile out of its exact parabolic path but by taking the soldier in accordance with the natural law of Divine Impressions out of that fatal track.

The whole "Is a mighty maze but not without a plan." This event therefore however afflictive to us, is and was from all eternity a part of the whole sum of human history. It is and was from the beginning all adjusted in harmony with the general system of things. That Theology or Philosophy which makes God such a Phantom or Non-Descript as to give him a place in the operations of nature only on great and general occasions has already warped our opinions out of all conformity to consistency and may be described as the poet describes a heathen Deity—

"Who sets at odds heaven's jarring attributes,
And with one excellence another wounds."

We may not now see how the sudden and lamented death of our Governor will work out for us a higher and better result, it is true, but our faith rests on the principle of all sound philosophy, viz: that it is on the whole best, or it would not be so. On this point all agree. What the precise nexus or connecting link may be that unites the fact of his death to a train of future results, the Infinite Mind alone can see. But we can say this—that "being dead, he yet speaketh." His life and example will be the pabulum on which to nurse into being the slumbering fires of Christian heroism. He stands in a higher and holier relation to us now than before. He is now allied to a higher order of beings, yet his interest in us is not abated the fraction of a grain. Man is not truly born till he dies. He is now in his larvæ or chrysalis state. When the material envelop is thrown off, as it is at death, the intellectual and moral faculties and sympathies are developed to their just proportions. Immortality is continuous and improved life. In the language of the poet we can say,

"Heaven encircles all. The blest immortals,
Near us, divine with love's pure beauty stand,
Alluring us through faith's translucent portals,
Into the better land.

The friends we mourn as lost have not departed,
They have but laid aside earth's frail disguise.
On your dark way they pour, O lonely-hearted!
The light of loving eyes."

Having thus, in as brief a manner as possible, set before you a model character in the life and history of one of our most distinguished public men, now canonized by having passed to the higher conditions of another life, perhaps I may be pardoned for calling the attention more especially of the young men of Wisconsin, many of whom are now before me, to the practical lessons to be derived from our sad theme. We have endeavored to present here no extravagant, fulsome eulogy, or undeserved encomiums, but to draw out a faithful portraiture of the life and character of our late Governor. We hold him up in the light of past history and of present convictions, and compare him with our best real and ideal standards, and have adjudged him worthy a place among "the few, the immortal few, that were not born to die." What, now, is the beautiful and encouraging lesson which his noble life reads to the young men of Wisconsin? Was there anything in his early manhood so prompt us—anything in his mental endowments so transcendantly brilliant, compared with your own,—as to forbid you from attaining his exalted and commanding position as a wise and good man? You may not, like him, become Governor of Wisconsin, [illegible] State; nor would it be positive proof, in itself, that you was fit for the position if you did; but while this exact quality and measure of success might be denied, you could attain to all his virtues,—his self-discipline, his moral integrity, his generous devotion to the interests of others,—which constitute, after all, the real glory of the man.

This condition can be only reached by long, persistent, faithful effort. Your education, your individual development is the work, not of a few, faint wishes and feeble resolves, to be dissolved and dissipated, like the mists of the morning, on the first dawn of difficulty; nor is it the work alone of a four or six years' course in college; but it is emphatically the work of a lifetime. The building of a few air castles; the indulgence of a few romancing ideas of greatness, which are to be forced upon the attention of the public by the flash of native genius; the adoption of the hot-house system, by which a youth substitutes the showy for the solid, or reversing the order of nature, attempts to fore-stall real knowledge and discipline by superficial acquaintance with the practical benefits growing out of them,—all these false views and inverted processes of coming at the great result desired, are sure to end in disappointment and defeat. You can come to it only as the oak matures itself—gradually, silently and constantly. That monarch of the forest stands out in its simple grandeur, the child of bygone centuries. It stands there in sunlight and darkness, in calm and storm, in cold and heat, silently thrusting its roots deeper down, drawing its supplies from the mineral world below, and lifting its head to drink in its more sublimated and spiritualized nutriment in the light and atmosphere above.

The mind that is hot with wild ambition, and pants for sudden expansion, may attain it; but it will be the mushroom growth of inferior quality—the mere fungus that occupies room, but presents little as to desirable or valuable characteristics. You can learn from the brilliant example before you that high position in this country is not to be reached, where it is reached by merit alone, at a single bound. Great wealth, extraordinary genius, and an unscrupulous purpose may give their possessor such position for a time. But when honest merit, toiling along with the march of events, aims at something noble for itself and others, it is content to measure every inch of the unsurveyed route—to pass patiently along over every step of the ascending grade, up to a higher level of thought, activity and usefulness. This great work of personal education, the beginnings of which you just now begin to realize, and which will exert an important influence in determining your future, is achieved by the early formation of proper and fixed habits. Physiologists tell us that to make a single movement of the body sets in motion thousands of muscles. To utter a word, or strike a note on the piano, requires the active co-operation of thousands of little bundles of muscular fibres, each of which comes into play in rapid succession, by long force of habit under the power of the will. Such rapid execution becomes impossible except by long and faithful practice. So of our moral and intellectual habits. The evolution of a vigorous or valuable thought now may be dependent on a thousand antecedents in the way of habit, association and discipline, running back into the twilight of youth or early childhood. The vain conceits, the wild vagaries, the untamed passions, the unhumbled and hard nature of a mind little in sympathy with all that is true or beautiful or good—these mental conditions may continue to bear us fruit for years to come; and every hour of their permitted growth but diminishes the probability of their final eradication. Yet to this delicate work of so training every faculty of our spiritual nature, in order that great thoughts, pure desires, sublime emotions, and noble actions shall be the invariable result—to this work, in humble imitation of the noble character we have just considered, the young men of Wisconsin are invited. You need not fear the want of opportunity for the display of any real, serviceable qualities you may ever possess. There is no more danger of want of opportunity for appropriate and legitimate action for every healthy, sound mind, of humane sympathies, in all the future of human development, than there is danger of exhausting the infinite resources of God. I should as soon think my eyes would become useless, for want of things to see. I should as soon think my hearing would cease to afford pleasure, because I had listened to many of the possible combinations of musical sounds. The universe is infinite in every direction; not only in sounds and sights and odors, but in thought, in emotions, in the number, variety and intensity of our moral sympathies; in all the strange and eventful facts of individual history and social life. Fear not then, that even this little will not furnish sufficient scope for the exercise of your powers, whatever they may be; but be encouraged to aim, in simple humility, at the highest practicable possibilities of the wonderful nature with which the Creator has endowed you.

Mayer Bateman's Valedictory.

Gentlemen of the Council: Another year has now closed, in which I have had the honor to preside over your honorable body; and as I am about to resign my seat as Mayor of the city of Appleton to my worthy successor, it may not be improper, on retiring, to make a few remarks.

And first of all, Gentlemen, I tender you my thanks for the courtesy and co-operation I have received from you during the time which I have been called to preside over your deliberations. With one or two exceptions, I have received the past two years, nothing but what every gentleman is in duty bound to award to a presiding officer, and which every member who is entitled to the claim of gentleman will award.

As you all know, the past two years have been years of financial distress, of war, of commotion, with perplexity. Yet amid all these, our city has made some advancement. The Iron Horse has been brought within our limits by the willing aid of our citizens; also, other improvements, such as Bridges, Public Buildings, Streets, &c.; and although it has drawn heavily on our finances, yet I think the importance of such improvements justified the outlay.

Individual enterprise has also been active. When we look about our beautiful city, in different localities, on our magnificent water power, and see the various manufactories which have been put in operation during the past two years, surely we can claim that we have made some advance.

And in addition to these improvements, Appleton has not withheld her citizens from the battle field, in defense of our beloved country. Even one of this honorable body has recently left for the seat of war, to defend our glorious Union. Neither has this Council been unmindful of the families of those who have left—but has, I doubt not, made ample provision for their wants.

Our finances are probably in as good condition as could be expected, in view of the heavy outlays we have been absolutely called upon to make for city improvements; and it is gratifying to see the spirit of economy manifested by this Council—which, if promptly carried out, will ere long relieve us in a great measure from the heavy burden of tax which we have hitherto borne.

But, Gentlemen, I will not trespass upon your time by any extended remarks, but in conclusion, would again thank you for your gentlemanly deportment and prompt action during the time I have had the honor to preside; and also to our efficient City Clerk, who has served us, the last two or three years, with great acceptance and ability. And I doubt not, with the able advice of our worthy Mayor elect, you will so carry out the municipal regulations of the city, as to insure its prosperity and happiness.

ROBT. R. BATEMAN.

Mayor Johnson's Inaugural

Gentlemen of the Common Council

When I heard that the Hono. Hammond, who was elected Mayor of the city of Appleton, refused to preside over the deliberations of this Council for the coming year, I was disappointed. But I was still more disappointed when I learned that the voters of this city had chosen me to perform the duties of this office. It is an honor which I did not seek nor anticipate; yet it is an expression of regard from my fellow citizens which I shall continue to cherish while I remain among them.

We are living in a time of more than ordinary interest; a time which will be marked in the history of this nation,—and one to which we may, in the future, point with pride, as our sires pointed to the hard struggle which purchased for them and us a Free Government and Free Institutions. The struggle now is to perpetuate those blessings which they purchased for themselves, and their posterity throughout all future time. The price they paid for this rich inheritance was their treasures and the best blood of the sons of freedom; and it may cost us as much, or even more, to teach traitors that Government must and will be preserved, to bless generations yet to come. While we sympathize with the friends of those who have fallen because of this unholy war, waged against the best Government under the sun, still we have reason to rejoice in that kind Providence which has watched over our armies and given success to the right, and we still have faith to believe that He, in his Goodness, will continue this Government, and preserve our Free Institutions, and guide our Nation through this stately trial, until we shall come out a wiser, freer, and happier people.

The policy which I wish to see inaugurated and carried out, in view of the state of the country, and the expenses which must necessarily follow such a state of affairs, is one of strict economy. This is demanded by the Tax-Payers, and also for the growth and settlement of our city. Our Taxes should not be so high as to deter immigrants from settling among us and becoming freeholders of the soil. This they will not do while it is more advantageous to lease tenements than to own them. Exorbitant taxes are always, and in all countries, a source of discontent and dissatisfaction; but it is equally true that the people are generally willing to pay all reasonable expenses of the Government, and for necessary improvements, so long as they are convinced that they are not taxed for extravagance in legislation, or extortion on the part of those who have the management of their finances. The suggestions of our late Governor Harvey, for reforms in our present system of levying and collecting taxes, are worthy of the careful consideration of all of our State, County and Town officers, and especially so in times like these. I hope therefore, that we shall be able to inaugurate and carry out, in the management of the affairs of the city, that strict economy demanded by the times and circumstances in which we are placed.

We have reason to congratulate ourselves as a city, on the improvements which have been made during the past year. Extensive repairs have been made in our streets and highways; two or three substantial bridges have been completed, and we are now in direct communication by railroad with Chicago and other points—which is a great advantage to the commercial interests of our city. Other improvements greet our eyes at almost every turn. Truly, the march of our city is onward.

I would take this early opportunity to call the attention of the Council to the fact that we have not adequate protection from fires. The large number of wooden buildings on our business streets would render it difficult to control a fire once started, even with adequate means for the purpose; but with our present means, a fire once started would prove very destructive to property and the interests of the community. I would therefore earnestly recommend the speedy organization of a Fire Department, and to furnish the necessary means for carrying out this measure.

The attention of the Council has been called by the previous Mayor, to the fact that our City Cemetery is too small, and too near the business part of the city. It might be economy for the city, at an early day, to secure a more desirable and secluded spot, as well as more ample grounds for the burial of the dead.

It is a fact to be deplored by the good citizens of this place, that cases of intoxication are frequently seen in our streets, and that the peace of some neighborhoods is disturbed by the broils and carousals of drunken Indians. The law is very severe upon those who furnish the natives with intoxicating drinks, and all such offenders should be promptly dealt with for the violation of this wholesome law.

I have had but little experience in municipal affairs; but I shall endeavor to do my duty to the best of my ability, trusting to your generosity, forbearance and assistance, in the discharge of the duties of my office. I shall therefore ask, and expect to receive, your sympathy and co-operation.

W. JOHNSON.

The Crescent announces the commencement of its Tenth Volume, and continues to be a valuable paper, as of yore. We cordially wish it all the success it can deserve. Home papers ought always to be preferred.—Motor.

Thank you, gents, for your puff for us "Home papers ought always to be preferred," but humanity is liable to err, in neglect of the local paper and we see much of it that looks like wilfulness. So the world wags.

LATEST.—At the Williamsburg battle the rebels left 700 of their dead on the field. Our loss is 300 killed and 400 wounded. The rebels were 50,000 strong; our forces 35,000.

By a private dispatch we have news that Franklin's division, sent forward by McClellan to intercept the rebels, met the enemy in superior force at West Point, Va., and after hard fighting, repulsed the traitors with terrible slaughter. Also Gen. Wool has begun the attack on Norfolk.

The capital of Louisiana is in our possession.

President Lincoln was at Fortress Monroe on the 7th.

The rebel capital is now located at Danville, N. C.

AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST FOR MAY.—Vol 21, No. 5; ORANGE JUDD Publisher, 41 Park Row, New York. $1 a year; 10 cents a number.

The May issue of the Agriculturist will be found fully equal to any former number. The Calendar of Operations for the month embraces hundreds of hints for work on the Farm, and in the Garden. In addition, this single number contains over 150 articles and items for the Farm, and Garden, and Household, including a $25 Prize Article on Apple Culture; a slashing report on "Artificial Manures" by the President of Penn. Agricultural College, etc. etc. Among the engravings are a beautiful page cut entitled "Sheep Tending"; "How to Hold and Drive Horses"; "Beautiful Leaved Plants"; "A Disturbed Nap"; "Shadows on the Wall," etc. Minute Maps of the Mississippi River; the Country from Norfolk to Richmond, including the topography of Yorktown; also Savannah, Geo., Fort Pulaski, and vicinity.

SUPERSTITION ON NUMBERS.—The other morning a gentleman hurried into Strickland & Co's. book-store half out of breath, exclaimed as he entered that "he wanted 555 if it wasn't sold for the Philharmonic Gift Concert." He said "he had been dreaming all night long about the figure 5, and he was determined to have a ticket that had the largest number of 5's in it of any in the list."

Luckily for him his ticket had not yet been sold, and in purchasing it he became the virtual possessor of the elegant piano which constitutes the highest prize among the gifts. (That is he became the possessor in his own superstitious estimation, and if it should happen to result so he would become superstitious enough for a Pagan.) But notwithstanding he is to draw the piano (provided his is the lucky number) there are numerous other valuable prizes in the scheme, as we see by the circular that has been issued by Strickland & Co., who act as agents for the orchestra of the Milwaukee Musical Society. There are 60 prizes in all of the value of $1700, and the number of tickets is limited to 2,200. Among the prizes is a superb rosewood $400 piano; a rosewood music box, 30 inches long, with bell, castanet and drum accompaniments, worth $200; an ebony dressing case, worth $50; a Singer's Sewing Machine, worth $70; a rosewood stereoscope with 50 choice views, worth $34; several oil paintings worth $30 and $40 each; another ebony dressing case, worth $30, and in fact a list of the finest prizes for a scheme of the kind that we ever saw offered for contribution. Besides these chances the concert will be a fine affair, and will probably come off on the 3d of June, at the Academy of Music. All the prizes are on exhibition at Strickland & Co's. bookstore, 185 East Water street, where circulars can be had, and where we are informed the tickets are rapidly being disposed of.—Wis.

According to recent returns, we learn that the births in the city of Philadelphia in 1861 were 17,271; the deaths, 14,468. The excess of births over deaths was therefore nineteen per cent. The births averaged 47 1 2 per diem, being one almost every half hour.

A correspondent informs us that he finds equal parts of lard and camphor, well mixed, a cure for chapped hands.

The number of freight cars loaded at Suspension Bridge for the New York Central Railroad, from the 15th of November to the first of April, was 12,500. Placed in a continuous line, they would extend eighty miles. Over half a mile of cars a day are dispatched. This is but one of a number of large items in the freight business of this road. A much larger amount of freight has gone by way of Buffalo.

Cairo, May 5th.—At 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, as Pope's forces were slowly advancing, on the extreme left, from Monterey, an advance column of the rebels was suddenly encountered in the woods. The latter opened fire on our troops, who stood their ground firmly. Gen. Pope ordered out three batteries, which were speedily unlimbered and prepared for action. Fire was opened on the rebels, who replied with spirit. The fight lasted three quarters of an hour, sharply contested on both sides, and threatening every moment to bring on a general engagement. Great excitement prevailed. The divisions and brigades were formed into line, and there was a general call to arms.

Both sides, however, seemed averse to provoking a general conflict, and the rebels finally broke and fled in confusion, leaving a large number of killed on the field. Pope's army followed in pursuit, and chased the runaways as far as Farmington, a small settlement near Corinth.

We lost twenty killed and forty wounded. The enemy suffered much more, as our artillery placed them under heavy fire for half an hour. Their loss, however, could not be ascertained, inasmuch as they succeeded in taking away many of the dead. About three hundred prisoners were captured.

Williamsburg, Va., May 6th.—The enemy evacuated this place and their works in front last night, their rear guard passing through about 6 o'clock.

At 9 o'clock General McClellan and escort entered the town and took possession.

About 150 of the enemy's wounded were left behind, without rations, medicines or surgeons. They also left a number of their dead unburied.

All of our wounded in yesterday's engagement who fell into their hands were left behind.

Colonel Dwight, of the Excelsior Brigade, who was severely wounded and taken prisoner, was also left.

In the engagement yesterday the enemy suffered terribly. General Ricketts was killed.

The enemy had a force here yesterday of 50,000 men, and only decided to evacuate after the brilliant bayonet charge of Gen. Hancock.

A majority of the white inhabitants remain.

The number of the enemy now in our hands will reach about 1,000, including the wounded.

The treaty of commerce between Prussia and Turkey has been ratified.

There has been a battle between the Turks and Insurgents in Alvaria. The Turks lost 400 men and four cannon.

Cairo, May 7th.—The steamer Ellas, from Pittsburg Landing at 9 o'clock last night, arrived here Sunday p. m.

Gen. Pope, by placing a battery of artillery in an open field, near Farmington, on the right of three rebel regiments, succeeded in luring them on to take the battery, when he took the whole of them prisoners, numbering some two thousand men.

Our Woodland Home.

☞ We are again disappointed about a list of the licensed teachers for this county. Hurry up Mr. County Superintendent!

☞ Grading will commence on the Green Bay Railroad Extension at our place, next week!

☞ The sermon of Pres't Mason, the Valedictory and Inaugral, together with a long law on our outside, about fills up our paper this week, to the exclusion of a variety of other matter.

☞ The weather has been delightful the past week, and the result is, many fine gardens are rapidly springing into existence. Morning walks and evening promenades are quite fashionable.

☞ On Sunday last Mr. Barto of Weyauwega, formerly a Methodist minister, was received into the Catholic Church by Rev. Joseph R. Herman of Northport. Rev. Louis Dael of this city preached a sermon on the occasion.

☞ Mr. Ja's. McGillan, one of our Co. Supervisors, informs us that there will be a meeting of the Board on the 2d of June next. Those interested may govern themselves accordingly. We do not learn that there will be much business to transact.

☞ A large number of persons were baptised at the Congregational Church on Sunday last, and many others were received in the church. Some six or eight were received into the Baptist church, at the same time, by immersion. The ceremonies in each case were very impressive.

☞ Our mail arrangements are somewhat uncertain as yet, the Milwaukee train failing to connect. We shall hereafter receive our Milwaukee mail at 9 35 a. m.; and the Eastern mail will arrive at 7 p. m. Eastern departs at 5.45 p. m.; Milwaukee, &c., at 8.30 a. m.

☞ Morse & Jordan, of Shiocton, in this county, made a contract to manufacture and deliver 300,000 feet of lumber at Berlin, in this State. They are also to deliver 300,000 feet at the same place, by a contract made last fall. All to be done this summer.

☞ We are requested to say that the closing exercises of the Senior Reading Class of Lawrence University, under the direction of Prof. L. A. Fuller, will take place in the College Chapel next Thursday evening at 7½ o'clock. Selections from Shakspeare and other poets will be given. All are invited.

☞ We understand that Rev. D. H. Cooley of the Baptist Church, will deliver the first of a series of lectures on Sunday, 17th inst., at 3 p. m. Subject: "Geology and the Bible," from the first chapters of Genesis. He will endeavor to show that Science and the Bible are not contradictory. Let all remember the time.

☞ REMOVALS.—Mr. Jackson has removed his Harness Establishment to one door east of the Stone Block, and is ready to receive the public in good style.

Mr. Griffis has located his Bakery one door west of Barlow's Variety Store, and will continue to cater to the public wants.

Drs. Tompkins & Fuller have their professional office over the drug store.

Dr. Ostrander has changed his office from the first to the third ward.

☞ Dr. Farwell is at the Crescent Hotel, and will treat all curable diseases with Electricity. He wants no money until he earns it. He uses no medicine, and cures many diseases on which medicine has no effect. All weaknesses and disordered members readily cured. He will give instructions how, when and where to use Electricity with success. He will furnish four books on Electropathy. Consultation free.

☞ John Carey has taken the job and is now busily engaged in dirting and graveling that unfinished portion of the road leading to the Second Ward bridge, in front of P. H. Smith's residence, including the part of Lawrence Street to Oneida St. The work is being done well and cheap. It has been long needed, and will greatly facilitate the drawing up of heavy loads from the water power as well as other business.

☞ The new Council held their first regular meeting on Saturday evening last. Ex-Mayor Bateman, in response to the expressed wishes of the old Board, delivered a short, and neat Valedictory on his retiracy.

Mayor Johnson then delivered his Inaugural Address. It is a brief, straightforward document, and has the genuine tone of honesty and sincerity requisite. We are satisfied that our new Mayor cannot be made a handle of for any man's private schemes at city expense or regardless of the general good. He commences his administration with an eye to the welfare of all, acting prudently on every measure brought up. He will receive the endorsement of every man who wishes to see the right prevail.

Mr. J. S. Buck, our former efficient clerk, was re-elected at a reduced salary.

By a tie vote, the Mayor deciding it, Mr. C. D. Foote was chosen Street Commissioner. Mr. Foote is a worthy young man, a good civil engineer, and we doubt not will do justice to the trust reposed in him.

By a vote of four to two, the Crescent was declared the official paper of the city.

The Mayor postponed the appointment of a City Attorney until this evening, when the council will hold an adjourned session.

☞ BUILDING, &c.—Business prospects are encouraging this Spring, when we consider the financial difficulties caused by the Rebellion. True, we may not have as large an exhibit of home improvements as on some former seasons, still we think, for a first instalment, it is not bad.

Mr. Anson Ballard is taking the preliminary steps, and will, as rapidly as possible, erect a fine residence on Lawrence st.

H. W. White of the Crescent Hotel, has his new addition completely enclosed, and will formally open it to the public about July first.

P. S. Bennett is hurrying up a substantial residence in the first ward.

Mr. Enos is progressing with his large tannery as fast as possible.

John Dillon has, upon the ground near the Railroad Depot, the material for a commodious dwelling to be completed, we understand, during the summer.

Hiram Allen has finished his new residence near the second ward school house.

These will all be good buildings, and will greatly add to the beauty of our place, and the convenience of the public generally.

The Congregational Church has set a good example to the other churches in our city in adorning the grounds in front their house of worship by setting out a number of beautiful shade trees.

The painting and graining of the stores of Allen & Jackson and Uncle Peter, has greatly added to the appearance of those business houses. Continue the work.

☞ PARSON BROWNLOW'S GREAT BOOK.—Those of our citizens who wish to secure a copy of this important work, now in press, can be accommodated. Mr. C. J. Gillett, of Fond du Lac, the authorized agent for this section of Country will call on our citizens during the coming week and take the names of those who may wish to subscribe for it. We will here find portrayed in Parson Brownlow's own language, the horrors and indignities suffered by Union men in Secessiondom. The book will be more eagerly sought for than anything of recent issue.

☞ PERSONAL.—We are happy to note the return of Edward P. Humphrey, of the Clothing firm of Fay & Humphrey. He has been spending some weeks at South Lancaster, Mass., his former home. His health has been materially bettered by his Eastern rustications.

Hon. P. H. Smith, Vice President of the C. & N. W. R., was in town this week attending to business connected with the Road.

C. J Pettibone, of the mammoth mercantile firm of Pettibone & Co., has been spending a few days in our city. He says business is as brisk here as at any Inland point in the State.

Mr. Winslow of St. Paul, Minn., the Lake Superior wagon road projector, gave us a call on Tuesday last. He says his road is a failure. The Advocate says Mr. W. "was in that city on Monday last receiving subscriptions for a telegraph line to Ft. Howard and Green Bay." The line is to be completed in 30 days, if at all.

F. E. Edgarton has returned from Chicago and will spend a three month's vacation among us. He has been attending the Congregational Theological University preparatory to entering the ministry.

☞ Our advertising columns to day present a few new claimants to public favor. The most of them came in at so late an hour that we have but time to make mere mention of them this week. Some have been received too late for this issue. We would be greatly pleased if advertisers would furnish us copy as soon as Thursday noon at the latest, and give us time to get them in type.

C. J. Pettibone has received a store full of new Spring Goods, and is selling them at such low prices that the ladies, especially of town are crowding the store constantly, making their purchases. Goods and Groceries can be purchased there as cheap as at any place in Wisconsin. Go and see for yourselves; don't take our word for it.

See the advertisements calling for laborers. Here is a chance for the unemployed to get employment and cash pay.

Mr. Ballard will sell anyone city lots, well located for residences or business, and all wishing to locate on Water Power will do well to give him a call. Now is the time to purchase real estate.

Hart & Waters cap the climax of advertising by exhibiting a specimen of their beef. Pretty fat, isn't it!

Our fashionables, if we have any among us, will of course send for Mme. Demorest's Quarterly.

☞ CIRCUIT COURT.—Mr. Hamer, Clerk of the Court, has kindly furnished us the list of Grand and Petit Jurors for the coming term. The former to appear on Monday, the 16th of June, at 11 a. m., and the latter Tuesday, the 17th:

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY AND COUNTY.

Established January, 1853.

Pioneer Newspaper of Outagamie!

DEMOCRATIC IN POLITICS.

Circulation Larger than any other Democratic Paper in the River Valley.

Best Local Paper North of Milwaukie

ONLY $1.50 PER ANNUM!

A paper for the home circle,
A paper for the business world,
A paper for the politician,
A paper for the literati,
A paper for the professional man,
A paper for the farmer,
A paper for the mechanic,
A paper for the laborer.

It contains all the latest and most reliable intelligence from home and abroad. The farmer will always find something in its columns to amuse as well as instruct. Pithy romances, literary selections, scientific articles, important facts, new discoveries, condensed floatings, an epitome of passing events, legal decisions, gems of poetry, &c., will render it a welcome visitor to the general reader. All the energetic, go-aheadative, business community of "Our Woodland Home," are its patrons.

ITS HOME DEPARTMENT

Will ever be a true map of the progress of the River Valley, and particularly of Outagamie County. Our extensive WATER POWER and EDUCATIONAL FACILITIES will occupy a due share of our columns. The agricultural resources of Northern Wisconsin, the endless timbered wealth, the easy facilities for transportation and our healthy climate, if proper encouragement is given, cannot but induce the capitalist, the professional man, the farmer, and the mechanic, to locate in this above all other sections. We shall, therefore, always aim to keep our City and County BEYOND THE WORLD AT LARGE!

TO ADVERTISERS

We offer good inducements. Our paper is read all over the Union; from Maine to California; from the Canadas to the base of the Rocky Mountains; thus affording a wide circulation to the business public.

EXTRA INDUCEMENTS.

To anyone sending us a club of ten new subscribers and $10 we will mail (to one address) 10 copies of the paper for one year. Twenty copies (to one address) for $20. The cash must always accompany the names.

MEN OF OUTAGAMIE!

Our interests are allied with yours. As you prosper we extend our influence; as our influence increases your property is enhanced in value. Shall we meet with a larger home encouragement? There is an intelligent, reading population of nearly 2,000 families in our County; can we not have at least half that number of subscribers IN the County? Support the paper that is battling for your interests, instead of pampering to City Dailies and Eastern Weeklies.

$2,000 REWARD.

Whereas the practice of Crediting having become obsolete with Eastern Jobbers it becomes necessary for the Retailer, for divers reasons, to follow their example.

Self Preservation,

The first law of nature requires it in times like the present, and I predict that one-half the Merchants who continue to do business in the old way will be laid upon the shelf within one year from date.

Therefore, be it enacted, that from and after the First day of January, 1862, the

will be suspended by the subscriber, and when relieved from this incumbrance it will be a saving of 10 per ct. to the purchaser and also to the vender for the loss of interest and bad debts will amount to more than that sum. If every man will buy only what he can pay for, he may be compelled to practice self-denial, which may in the end save him from bankruptcy and others from loss on his account.

He only is independent who can pay for what he buys, or deny himself of it, whether a necessary or luxury. Foreign and domestic goods have each taken an exorbitant advance, with the prospect of a still farther advance, and it becomes every family to practice economy at least in the luxuries of life. John Bull is now threatening to invade our nation; in which case Sugar, Tea and Coffee will become scarce and high, and for these luxuries we should contrive to use a substitute.

I have fixed upon the beginning of the New Year to suspend all crediting and shall also require all persons to settle up all balances in Cash, or some other way that will be satisfactory.

It is too hard to pay cost, therefore I give notice through the Crescent, that all persons interested may take notice and govern themselves accordingly. My ledger is full and my day book has run out.

All Kinds of Goods

formerly kept. I have now on hand, for Cash Customers, and them only. The above reward will be given to my creditors as soon as received on sales and accounts. Appleton, Dec. 25, 1861.

NOTICE.—We are daily receiving orders to send by mail some one or more of Dr. Hurd's Dental remedies, which we cannot fill. None are mailable except the Neuralgia Plaster, which we send in an envelope on receipt of Price (15 cents) and one stamp. But to accommodate persons in places where the druggists and storekeepers are behind the age, we have put up packages in white embossed boxes, seven inches by four, with compartments—each box containing a bottle of Dr. Hurd's Mouth Wash, and Tooth Ache Drops, a box of Tooth Powder, the Neuralgia Plaster, and a valuable little Treatise on Teeth and their Diseases, the best means of preserving them, and proper treatment of Children's Teeth, worth itself the entire cost to every young man or woman, or parents with young children; with sundry other necessary articles; price [illegible] dollar, or six packages for $5, sent by express as directed. As the Express charges are not much, if any, more on a dozen than on one, it is far cheaper to order six or a dozen packages at one time. A large family will want all, or the surplus can be disposed of to neighbors with public benefit, for no one can estimate how much pain, suffering, unhappiness, and disfigurement, expense, loss of time and money would be saved to the country if every family to day had one of these packages, which, in itself, is a complete set of Dental Remedies. Address WM. B. HURD & Co., Tribune Buildings, New York, and write name and address plainly. That remittances may be made with confidence, W. B. H. & Co. refer to the Mayor of Brooklyn, to G. W. GRIFFITH, President of the Farmers and Citizen's Bank, Brooklyn; to the Editor of the American Manufacturers' Gazette; to Joy, Coe & Co., Publishers' Agents, New York; to P. T. BARNUM, Esq., who knows a good thing when he sees it and who has already ordered a second supply, etc.

1000 AGENTS WANTED

To introduce Dr. Hurd's Dental Remedies into every County. Men or women who want to make money quickly, can do better with these articles than anything in market. They are new, useful, low priced, and we are spending thousands in advertising them for the benefit of agents. Boxes of samples, containing a dozen of the one dollar packages above specified, with circulars will be sent, on receipt of seven dollars, about half price, to any person wishing to test his or her skill in selling with the view of becoming an agent. They can be sold in a day. ☞ We would rather pay salaries than Commissions to those who prove themselves efficient salesmen.

☞ Now is the time to go into business. For address and references see above.

AYER'S

Sarsaparilla

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

And for the speedy cure of the following complaints:
Scrofula and Scrofulous Affections, such as Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Blains, and all Skin Diseases.

ORLEANS, Ind., 6th June, 1859.

[illegible] Gents, I feel it my duty to acknowledge what your Sarsaparilla has done for me. Having inherited a Scrofulous infection, I have suffered from it in various ways for years. Sometimes it burst out in Ulcers on my hands and arms; sometimes it turned inward and distressed me at the stomach. Two years ago it broke out on my head and covered my scalp and ears with one sore, which was painful and loathsome beyond description. I tried many medicines and several physicians, but without much relief from any thing. In fact, the disorder grew worse. At length I was rejoiced to read in the Gospel Messenger that you had prepared an alterative (Sarsaparilla), for I knew from your reputation, that any thing you made must be good. I sent to Cincinnati and got it, and used it till it cured me. I took it, as your advice, in small doses of a teaspoonful over a month, and used almost three bottles. New and healthy skin soon began to form under the scab, which after a while fell off. My skin is now clear, and I know by my feelings that the disease has gone from my system. You can well believe that I feel what I am saying when I tell you, that I hold you to be one of the apostles of the age, and remain ever gratefully, Yours,

ALFRED B. TALLEY.

St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Dropsy.

Dr. Robert M. Preble writes from Salem, N. Y., 12th Sept., 1859, that he has cured an inveterate case of Dropsy, which threatened to terminate fatally, by the persevering use of our Sarsaparilla, and also a dangerous Malignant Erysipelas by large doses of the same; says he cures the common Eruptions by it constantly.

Bronchocele, Goitre or Swelled Neck,

Zebulon Sloan of Prospect, Texas, writes: "Three bottles of your Sarsaparilla cured me from a Goitre—a hideous swelling on the neck, which I had suffered from over two years."

Leucorrhœa or Whites, Ovarian Tumor, Uterine Ulceration, Female Diseases.

Dr. J. B. S. Channing, of New York City, writes; "I most cheerfully comply with the request of your agent in saying I have found your Sarsaparilla a most excellent alterative in the numerous complaints for which we employ such a remedy, but especially in Female Diseases of the Scrofulous diathesis. I have cured many inveterate cases of Leucorrhœa by it, and some where the complaint was caused by ulceration of the uterus. The ulceration itself was soon cured. Nothing within my knowledge equals it for these female derangements."

Edward S. Marrow, of Newbury, Ala., writes, "A dangerous ovarian tumor on one of the females in my family, which had defied all the remedies we could employ, has at length been completely cured by your Extract of Sarsaparilla. Our physician thought nothing but extirpation could afford relief, but he advised the trial of your Sarsaparilla as the last resort before cutting, and it proved effectual. After taking your remedy eight weeks no symptom of the disease remains."

Syphilis and Mercurial Disease.

NEW ORLEANS, 25th August, 1859.

Dr. J. C. AYER: Sir, I cheerfully comply with the request of your agent, and report to you some of the effects I have realized with your Sarsaparilla.

I have cured with it, in my practice, most of the complaints for which it is recommended, and have found its effects truly wonderful in the cure of Venereal and Mercurial Disease. One of my patients had Syphilitic ulcers in his throat, which were consuming his palate and the top of his mouth. Your Sarsaparilla, steadily taken, cured him in five weeks. Another was attacked by secondary symptoms in his nose, and the ulceration had eaten away a considerable part of it, so that I believe the disorder would soon reach his brain and kill him. But it yielded to my administration of your Sarsaparilla; the ulcers healed, and he is well again, not of course without some disfiguration to his face. A woman who had been treated for the same disorder by mercury was suffering from this poison in her bones. They had become so sensitive to the weather that on a damp day she suffered excruciating pain in her joints and bones. She, too, was cured entirely by your Sarsaparilla in a few weeks. I know from its formula, which your agent gave me, that this Preparation from your laboratory must be a great remedy; consequently, these truly remarkable results with it have not surprised me.

Fraternally yours, G. V. LARIMER, M. D.

Rheumatism, Gout, Liver Complaint.

INDEPENDENCE, Preston Co., Va., 6th July, 1859.

Dr. J. C. AYER: Sir, I have been afflicted with a painful chronic Rheumatism for a long time, which baffled the skill of physicians, and stuck to me in spite of all the remedies I could find, until I tried your Sarsaparilla. One bottle cured me in two weeks, and restored my general health so much that I am far better than before I was attacked. I think it a wonderful medicine. J. FREAM.

Jules Y. Getchell, of St. Louis, writes; "I have been afflicted for years with an affection of the Liver, which destroyed my health. I tried every thing, and every thing failed to relieve me; and I have been a broken-down man for some years from no other cause than derangement of the Liver. My beloved pastor, the Rev. Mr. Espy, advised me to try your Sarsaparilla, because he said he knew you, and any thing you made was worth trying. By the blessing of God it has cured me, and has so purified my blood as to make a new man of me. I feel young again. The best that can be said of you is not half good enough."

Schirrus, Cancer Tumors, Enlargement, Ulceration, Caries and Exfoliation of the Bones.

A great variety of cases have been reported to us where cures of these formidable complaints have resulted from the use of this remedy, but our space here will not admit them. Some of them may be found in our American Almanac, which the agents below named are pleased to furnish gratis to all who call for them.

Dyspepsia, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Melancholy, Neuralgia.

Many remarkable cures of these affections have been made by the alterative power of this medicine. It stimulates the vital functions into vigorous action, and thus overcomes disorders which would be supposed beyond its reach. Such a remedy has long been required by the necessities of the people, and we are confident that this will do for them all that medicine can do.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF

Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the Relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced Stages of the Disease.

This is a remedy so universally known to surpass any other for the cure of throat and lung complaints, that it is useless here to publish the evidence of its virtues. Its unrivalled excellence for coughs and colds, and its truly wonderful cures of pulmonary disease, have made it known throughout the civilized nations of the earth. Few are the communities, or even families, among them who have not some personal experience of its effects—some living trophy in their midst of its victory over the subtle and dangerous disorders of the throat and lungs. As all know the dreadful fatality of these disorders, and as they know, too, the effects of this remedy, we need not do more than to assure them that it has now all the virtues that it did have when making the cures which have won so strongly upon the confidence of mankind.

MARRIAGE.—ITS LOVES and hates, sorrows and angers, hopes and fears, regrets and joys; MANHOOD, how lost, how restored; the nature, treatment and radical cure of Spermatorrhœa, or seminal weakness; involuntary emissions, sexual debility and impediments to marriage generally; nervousness, consumption, fits, mental and physical incapacity, resulting from SELF ABUSE—are fully explained in the MARRIAGE GUIDE, by WM. YOUNG, M. D. This most extraordinary book should be in the hands of every young person contemplating marriage, and every man or woman who desires to limit the number of their offspring to their circumstances. Every pain, disease and ache incidental to youth, maturity and old age, is fully explained; every particle of knowledge that should be known is here given. It is full of engravings. In fact, it discloses secrets that every one should know; still it is a book that must be locked up, and not lie about the house. It will be sent to anyone on the receipt of twenty-five cents in specie or postage stamps. Address DR. WM. YOUNG, No. 416 SPRUCE Street, above Fourth, Philadelphia.

☞ AFFLICTED AND UNFORTUNATE, no matter what may be your disease, before you place yourself under the care of any of the notorious Quacks—native or foreign—who advertise in this or any other paper, get a copy of Dr. Young's book, and read it carefully. It will be the means of saving you many a dollar, your health, and possibly your life.

DR. YOUNG can be consulted on any of the diseases described in his publication, at his office, No. 416 SPRUCE Street, above Fourth, Philadelphia. Office hours from 9 to 3, daily. (10-1y)

franchises or coporate rights, shall be at any time in charge and under the control of a receiver or receivers or any other person appointed by any court of this state or of the United States, by order, judgment or decree of any of such courts, in trust for the creditors of such company or for any purpose whatever, such court is hereby especially authorized and empowered, by order or decree of said court, duly entered of record, to authorize and require such receiver or recivers, or other person or persons thus in charge of and controlling and operating such railroad and other property or corporate rights of such company, to exercise all cate powers and authority, in accepting this act which such railroad corporation would have possessed if it had remained in full possession of all the rights, powers and authority conferred by its charter and any act amendatory thereof; and the acceptance of this act in pursuance of such order or decree of such courts, by such receiver or receivers or other persons as aforesaid shall be effectual to bind all persons now or hereafter to becoms in any way interested in such railroad company, its property, rights or privileges.

Sec. 21. After the entire amount of outstanding certificates, together with the interest due and accrued thereon, shall have been fully provided for by the several succeeding annual apportionments, the said board of commissioners shall be dissolved, and their duties cease; whereupon they shall transfer all the books, vouchers and other papers in their possession to the secretary of state, who shall safely deposit and keep them in his office; and if then there shall still remain any money in the treasury belonging to said fund previously apportioned and not called for, such money shall be transferred to the general fund of the state treasury, to the credit of the certificate or certificates, specifying the same by its or their numbrr, series and issue, which certificate or certificates shall be paid at the treasury upon presentment.

Sec. 23. The members of said board of commissioners shall be allowed a reasonable compensation for their services, not to exceed the sum of three dollars each per day for each day actually employed. They shall also be allowed a reasonable amount for office rent and furniture, stationery, printing, and fuel and clerk hire. All the expenses of said commission shall be paid out of said sinking fund, and all accounts for expenses shall, before being paid, be submitted to and audited by the secretar of state, in the same manner and under the same regulation as are now, or may, from time to time be prescribed by law, for the auditing of accounts against the state.

Sec. 23. Each officer of the state named in this act, and his successors in office, shall discharge any and all duties imposed upon him by any of the provisions of this act.

Sec. 24. All holders of railroad bonds, and of notes or bonds and mortgages collateral thereto, of the kind and description mentioned in section four of this act, who at the time of the passage of this act are residing beyond the limits of U. S. of America may avail themselves of the benefits of this act, by complying with the provisions thereof within one year af the publication of the acceptance of this act by the railroad company to which such mortgage was originally given, and shall then be entitled to a certificate of the first series; and all persons, holders of such bonds and mortgages, residing in the states or territories of the U. S. west of the Rocky Mountains, shall be entitled to the same privilege as to time.

Sec. 26. Every person who originally made, executed and delivered any note or bond and mortgage of the kind mentioned in section four of this act, and who shall have paid or compounded for the same, such person or his legal representatives shall be entitled to all the benefits of this act; and in case judgment shall have been or shall hereafter be rendered against any person upon any such instrument described in section four of this act, the judgment debtor or his legal representatives shall have the same right to the benefit of this act as the holder of said mortgage would have had, had such judgment not been rendered; and such judgment creditor or his legal representative or assigns, shall not have the right to the benefit of this act. Such judgment debtor or his legal representatives, to be entitled to the benefits of this act, shall file a certified copy of such judgment with the commissioners, and thereupon he shall receive the same certificate as though he was the owner of the note or bond and mortgage upon which such judgment was rendered. In case any person holding a note and mortgage entitling him to a lien upon said fund, shall refuse to file the same with said commissioners within the time prescribed by this act, he shall not thereafter have the right to file the said instrument with said commissioners, so as to become a lien upon such sinking fund, but the original mortgagor or his legal representatiues, upon proof to said commissioners of the amount of said note and mortgage, its class and other proof required by such commissioners of the holder of a note and mortgage, brfore the same became a lien upon said fund, shall be entitled to the same benefits of such sinking fund, and receive the same certificate, and have and receive the same share of such fund as such holder of said instruments would have had, had the same been filed as required by this act.

Sec. 26. If any statement, report, schedule, application or oath, to which an affidavit is required by said commissioners, or by the provisions of this act, shall contain a willful falsehood, the person making the same shall be deemed guilty of perjury, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished as for willful and corrupt perjury.

Sec. 27. The said board of commissioners shall keep an office in the city of Madison, in this State, suitable for the transaction of their business, which office shall be kept open each day of the week, Sundays, excepted, from nine o'clock in the forenoon until four o'clock in the afternoon, from the first day of April until the first day of Oct., 1862; and after the last mentioned day, said office shall be kept open as the said board may deem necessary, to properly and without delay transact all the business appertaining to the duties of the board. A majority of said board may transact all the business and perform all the duties herein enjoined upon or required of said board. They shall keep a full and correct record of all acts and things done by them as such board of commissioners: they shall also in each and every year during the continuance of said board, and within ten days next preceding the first day of the regular annual session of th legislature of the state, make to the governor of the state a full and complete report of the condition and management during the last preceding year, of the railroad bond and mortgage sinking fund, and all things appertaining thereto: and it is hereby made the duty of the governor of the state to communicate the report so made to him, to the legislature, at their first meeting.

Sec. 18. This act, immediately after its passage, shall be printed by the contractor of public printing, and when so printed shall take effect and be in force, and shall be taken and construed as a public act.

Approved April 8, 1862.

Great National Banner of Intellect,

FOR

American Hearts and Homes!

THE

New York Mercury.

A NEW YEAR WITH AN OLD FRIEND.

On New Year's day of 1862, that world-renowned and unrivaled gem of American journalism, the peerless New York Mercury, will enter upon the twenty-fourth year of the most brilliant career ever achieved by a paper. During the past year it has been the teacher, story-teller, mentor, and oracle of two hundred thousand American homes, from ocean to ocean—and from Quebec, in Canada, to Pensacola, on the Gulf of Mexico. Young and old, rich and poor, have reveled in its enchanting stores of wisdom, romance, art, poetry, and genial humor; and its praise is "Familiar in their mouths as household words."

The noble patriot-soldier in his tent, too, has whiled away the tedium of camp life in the absorbing review of its finding in them a fascinating mental discipline known only to those who rally to the Banner-sheet of the Grand Army of American Intellect and Genius!

In commencing a New Year, the proprietors of The New York Mercury can only say, that it shall be their aim to make their great family journal of American literature, for 1862, more brilliant and enchanting than ever, in its concentration of all the world's grandest and most beautiful specialities in healthful Romance, graceful Poetry, elegant and quaint Gossip, refining Knowledge, sparkling Humor, and entertaining News—until, like love, it "—— rules the court, the camp, the bower," as it already rules the happy domestic fireside.

The editorial tone and National departments of The New York Mercury will continue true to that lofty spirit of patriotism which has made it a necessity of the people since the War began, and kept it in enthusiastic demand when other sheets were dying all around it for want of popular support.

Already the largest Literary Journal in the world, and famous as the focus of a thousand brilliant literary reputations, its programme for 1862 will be magnificent beyond all precedent. The most celebrated pens of this country and Europe have been secured in its service, at an outlay equal to the expense of more than one national government in the Old World! and its novelettes, or continued stories, for 1862, will be the most splendid triumphs of elegant Fiction ever published. To these, too, the magic pencil of the greatest of American artists, Mr. Felix O. C. Darley, will lend the aid of pictorial art.

Our story, initiatory of the New Year, is a splendid national Romance, commencing in the New York Mercury of Saturday, January 4th, 1862, and entitled

THE RATTLESNAKE:

OR

THE REBEL PRIVATEER.

A TALE OF THE PRESENT TIME.

BY NED BUN LINE

IT IS THE GREATEST NOVELETTE SINCE THE DAYS OF MARRYATT.

THE NEW YORK MERCURY is sold by all newsmen and periodical dealers in America. To subscribers, it is regularly mailed every Saturday morning for $2 a year; three copies for $5; six copies for $9; eight copies for $12, with an extra copy, free, to the getter up of the club. GROVER & BAKER'S

Noiseless Family Sewing Machines.

Wm. B. Young & Co., General Agents for the North west, 115 Lake St. Chicago, Ill.

15 Newhall House, Milwaukee, Wis., J. A. French agent.

THE GROVER & BAKER SEWING MACHINES are now preferred to all others for family use, because

THE GROVER & BAKER SEWING MACHINES are more simple and easily learned, and less liable to get out of order than any other.

THE GROVER & BAKER SEWING MACHINES make the strongest seam known, and one that will not rip or ravel though every fourth stitch is cut.

THE GROVER & BAKER SEWING MACHINES sew from two ordinary spools, and thus all trouble of winding thread is avoided, while the same machine can be adapted at pleasure by a mere change of spools to all varieties of work.

THE GROVER & BAKER SEWING MACHINES run silk, linen thread and spool cotton, with equal facility.

THE GROVER & BAKER SEWING MACHINES make an elastic seam which is free from all liability to break in washing, ironing or otherwise.

THE GROVER & BAKER SEWING MACHINES make a stitch that is more beautiful than any other made, either by hand or machine.

THE GROVER & BAKER SEWING MACHINES allow the work to pass directly over the table, so that the operator can readily see in the open presser foot exactly where every stitch is taken in the fabric and easily guide the work straight.

THE GROVER & BAKER SEWING MACHINE is needed

in every farmer's family,
In every mechanic's family,
in every merchant's family,
In every professional man's family, in every family where it is desirable to make sewing easy, pleasant or profitable

These machines were formerly so high in prices as to be considered beyond the reach of many families but the recent reduction in prices brings them within the reach of all.

The following are now the prices of the leading styles:

No. 23—Plain Family Machine,	$40
No. 22—Table Drawer and Cover, Plated	60
No. 24—Plain, Long Arm, for quilting,	5[illegible]
No. 25—Table drawer and cover, plated, long arm	70
Cabinet machines in mahogany and Rosewood cases and drawers, full plated, from $80 to	125
No. 7—Shuttle machine, made heavy for manufacturing.	50

The Grover & Baker Sewing Machine Co., are manufacturing a new and improved Shuttle Machine, (No. 7, on descriptive list,) for Tailors and Shoe Makers' use, and for all who prefer that stitch which is adapted to a greater range of fabric, from heavy leather and heavy beaver cloth to fine Marseilles, and muslin, than any other Machine of that description

Price of Hemmers—Five Dollars for the of five turning different widths

THE SPECIFIC PILL.

A SPECIFIC REMEDY FOR

Spermatorrhea, or Seminal Weakness, and General Irrability in either sex

This Malady, the terrible consequences of which are too well known to require more than a bare allusion to them, is one of the most insidious, and therefore dangerous, of all the long catalogue of human ills. It saps the very springs of life, rapidly undermines the constitution, and sinks the unhappy victim into imbecility and a premature grave! From one to six boxes of the Specific Pill are generally sufficient to effect a permanent cure in the most aggravated cases, whether Constitutional, or arising from Abuse or Excesses.

MEDICAL TESTIMONY.

"We believe it to be, in the treatment of Spermatorrhea, as near a Specific as any medicine can be."—B. Keith, M. D. [Am Jour of Med Sci.

"I have found them all that could be desired. Their effect has been truly wonderful. I used them in a case of Sphermatorrhea of long standing which has been under treatment for years. I think three boxes will complete the cure."—E P DICKES, M. D.

☞ This is not a Homoeopathic remedy, nor is there any mercury or other deleterious ingredient combined with it.

PRICE.—$1 per box. Six boxes for $5, by mail, pre paid. For sale by all respectable druggists, and at the Sole General Depot in the U. S., by

PRIVATE MEDICAL TREATISE

ON THE

Physiological View of Marriage.

250 PAGES AND 130 ENGRAVINGS.—Price only twenty-five cents. Sent free of postage to all parts of the Union. On the infirmities of youth and maturity, disclosing the secret follies of both sexes of all ages, causing debility, nervousness, depression of spirit, palpitation of the heart, suicidal imaginings, involuntary emissions, blushings, defective memory, indigestion and lassitude, with confessions of thrilling interest of a Boarding School Miss, a College student, and a young Married Lady, &c.

YOUNG MEN who are troubled with weakness, generally caused by a bad habit in youth, the effects of which are dizziness, pains, forgetfulness, sometimes a ringing in the ears, weak eyes, weakness of the back and lower extremities, confusion of ideas, loss of memory, with melancholy, may be cured by the author's new Paris and London Treatment.

Those who place themselves under our care will now have the full benefit of the new and efficacious remedies which we are enabled to introduce into our practice, and the public may rest assured of the same zeal, assiduity, SECRECY and attention, being paid to their cases, which has so successfully distinguished us heretofore, as a Physician in our peculiar department of professional Practice, for THE PAST TWENTY-FIVE YEARS.

FRENCH FEMALE PILLS.—Ladies who wish for Medicines, the efficacy of which has been tested in thousands of cases, and never failed to effect speedy cures without any bad results, will use none but Dr. Delaney's Female Periodical Pills. The only precaution necessary to be observed is—ladies should no take them if they have reason to believe they are in CERTAIN SITUATIONS (the particulars of which will be found on the wrapper accompanying each box,) though always safe and healthy, so gentle, yet so active are they. Price $1 per box. They can be mailed to any part of the U. S. or Canada.

TO THE LADIES.—Who need a confidential medical adviser with regard to any of those interesting complaints to which their delicate organization renders them liable, are particularly invited to consult us.

THE "ELECTRO GALVANIC PROTECTIVE."—For married ladies whose health will not admit, or who have no desire to increase their families, may be obtained as above. It is a perfectly safe conception preventative. Price reduced to $10.

The Secrets of Youth Unveiled.

A Treatise on the Cause of Premature Decay.—A solemn warning. Just published, a book showing the insidious progress and prevalence among schools, [both male and female,] of this fatal habit, pointing out the fatality that invariably attends its victims, and developing the whole progress of the disease, from the commencement to the end.

It will be sent by Mail on receipt of two [3] cent Stamps

Medicines with full directions sent to any part of the United States or Canadas, by patients communicating their symptoms by letter. Business correspondence strictly confidential.

PROSPECTUS OF THE

Atlantic Monthly,

FOR 1862.

The January number commenced the Ninth Volume of this Magazine. Its very large and still increasing circulation, is a gratifying evidence of public approval, and no industry will be spared to render the forthcoming volume adequate to the requirements of times so pregnant with great events as those of to day. The ATLANTIC MONTHLY will nevergive other than the best literature, and it will be the constant aim of its conductors to render its variety greater and its attractions better each month than the last.

Among the contributions already in hand for 1862, the following will commend themselves as sufficient inducement for every family to provide the forthcoming numbers for household reading:

PROFESSOR AGASSIZ begun in the January number a series of articles on Natural History, and other kindred topics to be continued from month to month throughout the year.

A New Romance by NATHANIAL HAWTHORNE, will appear in the pages of THE ATLANTIC early in the year.

DR GEORGE B. WINDSHIP, well known for his remarkable experiments in Gymnastics, has written for THE ATLANTIC "The Autobiography of a Strength Seeker," giving an account of his method of training for feats of strength with advice on matters of Health

Articles by PROFESSOR JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL, on topics of national interest, will appear frequently.

BAYARD TAYLOR has written a story which will be printed in the February number.

The Staff of Writers, in Prose and Poetry contributing regularly to the ATLANTIC MONTHLY, comprises, among its popular names;

JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL, OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES, MRS. H. B. STOWE, HENRY W. LONGFELLOW, JOHN G. WHITTIER, HARRIET MARTINEAU, RALPH WALDO EMERSON, E. P. WHIPPLE, CHARLES READE, NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE, BAYARD TAYLOR, "THE COUNTRY PARSON," C. C. HAZEWELL, CHARLES E. NORTON, ROSE TERRY, T. W. HIGGINSON, GEORGE S. HILLARD, HARRIET E. PRESCOTT, AUTHOR OF "Life in the Iron Mills," & "Story of To-Day." REV. WALTER HENRY GILES, REV. ROBERT T. S. LOWELL, MITCHELL, J. T. TROWBRIDGE.

TERMS.

Three Dollars per Annum, or Twenty-five Cents a Number. Upon the receipt of the subscription price, the Publishers will mail the work to any part of the United States, prepaid.
